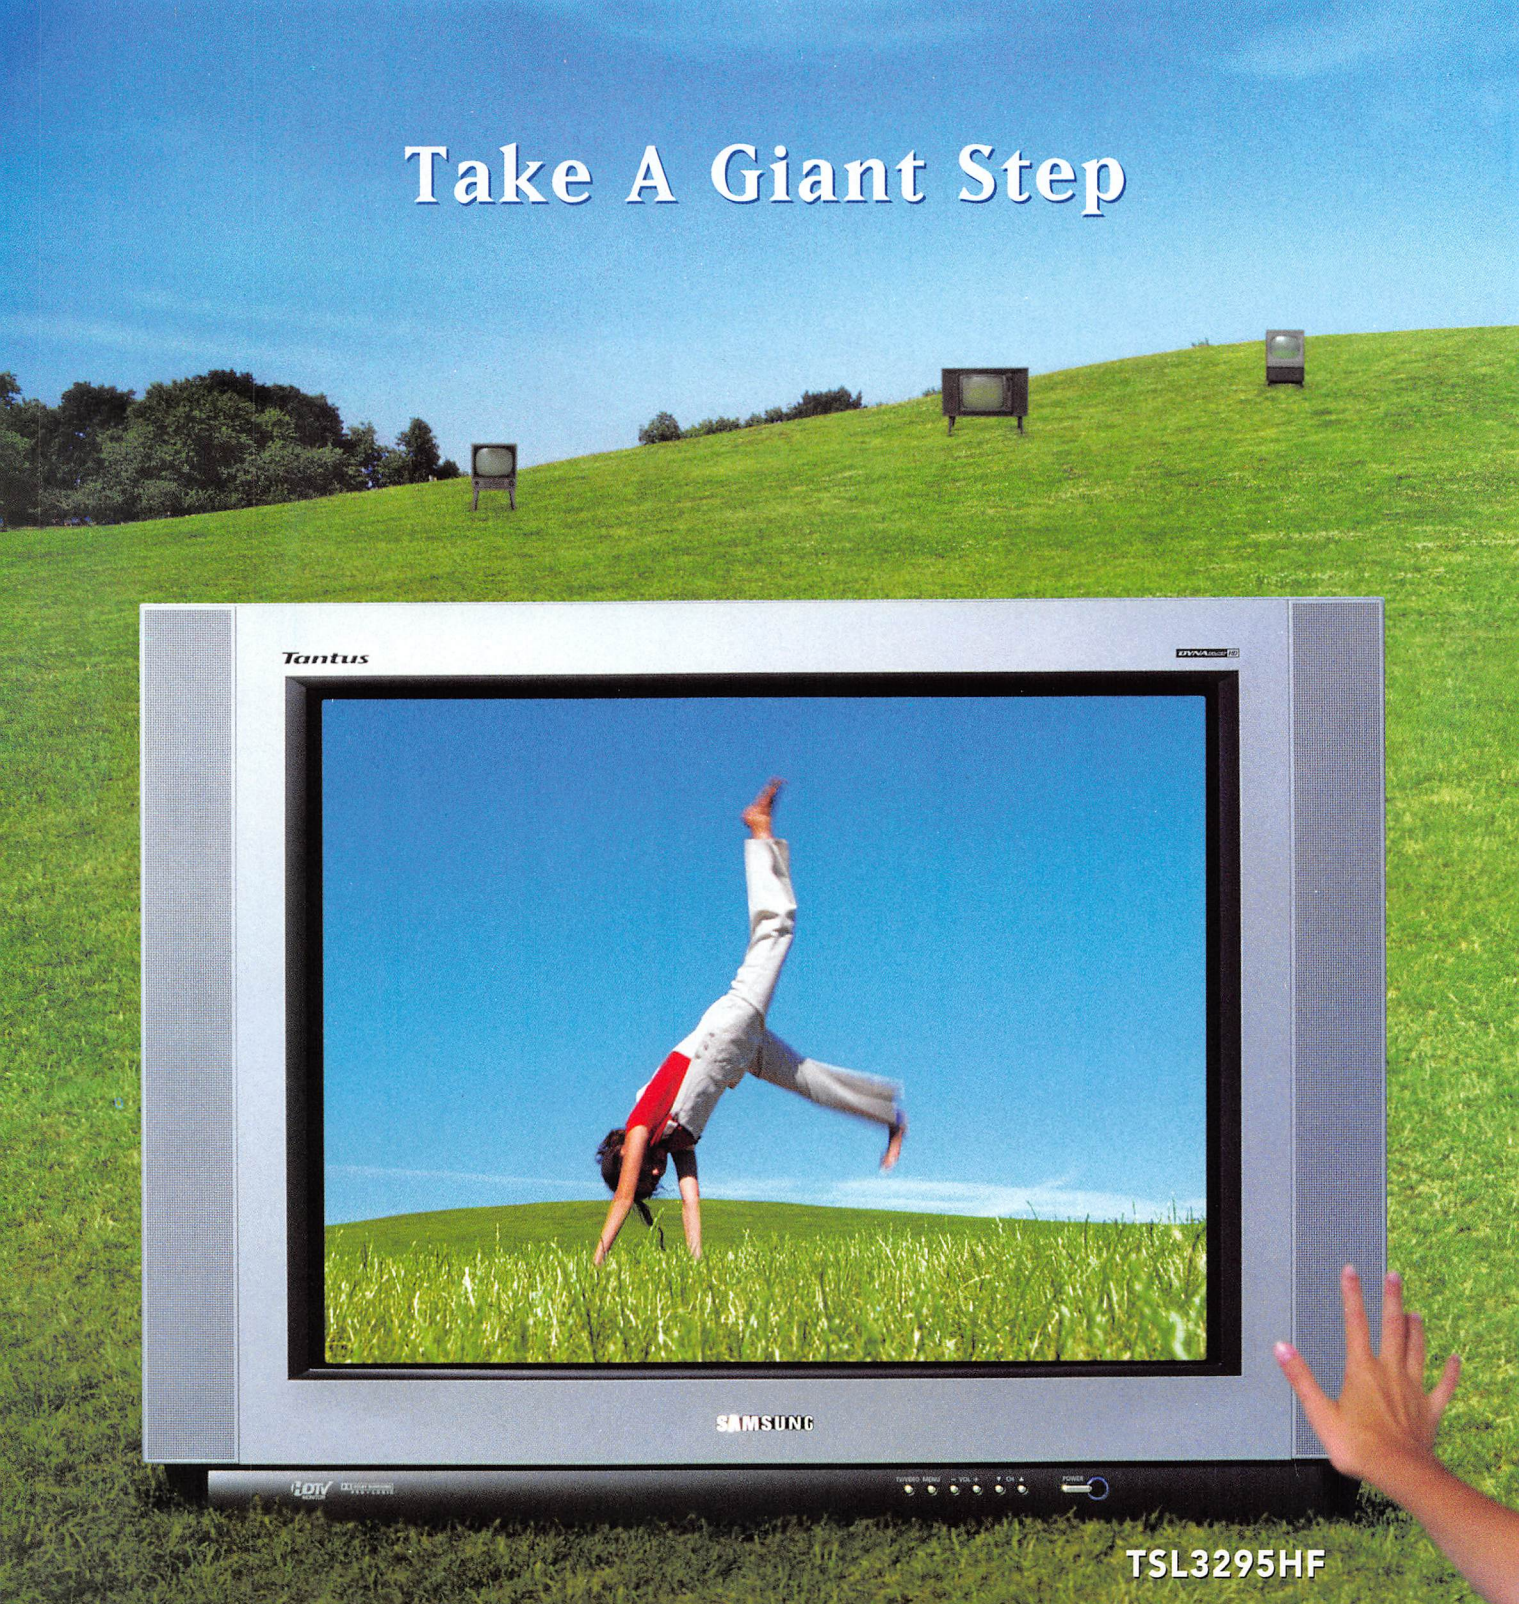
Come Closer

Take A Giant Step



TSL3295HF

...into the world of High Definition Television from Samsung. A world of brilliant digital clarity, of unexpected detail and beauty, and of surprising crispness and breathtaking quality. Like our Samsung 32" Tantus® DynaFlat digital television. A perfectly flat screen housed under museum quality glass, virtually distortion and glare free, with outstanding corner-to-corner sharpness. A picture made even clearer because the signal is digitally converted to flicker free progressive-scan image quality, making everything you watch, including regular TV broadcast, bolder, brighter and more exciting.

And when you're ready, an HDTV tuner is all you need to begin getting high definition broadcast in your home with Dolby® Digital surround sound. With 1080i/480p DVD/DTV Component Input Samsung's HDTV monitors have the flexibility to receive digital broadcasts whether from terrestrial broadcasts, cable systems, or satellite receivers. The Samsung Tantus® DynaFlat High Definition digital television from Samsung, in step with the way watching television should be.

Closer to Life

We would like to invite you to experience the excitement of digital television entertainment, to see our whole new generation of digital televisions at our web site at www.samsung.com/dtv. Where we invite you to register with us so you can attend one of our Saturday afternoon demonstrations of HDTV, beginning this fall. You'll also get some answers to some of the most asked questions about digital television, and some great places and ways to take that giant step into the digital world of television enjoyment. A step that will take you from the edge of technology to the edge of your seat. An experience that transforms what you watch and brings it closer to life.
